

Scraps & Shirrtails II

Continuing the Art of Quilting Green

By Bonnie K. Hunter

In Scraps & Shirrtails, Bonnie Hunter showed us the relationship between quilting green and quilting thrifty. Now she's back for a second round of green quilting in Scraps & Shirrtails II. The long-awaited sequel continues the art of quilting green with 13 new projects that help you reuse, re-purpose and recycle your scraps into beautiful quilts!

Here's what quilters are saying about Scraps & Shirrtails!

Scraps & Shirrtails is my scrappy quilt bible. So many great patterns! Bonnie's love of color just spills over every page.

Whether your desire is to make vintage quilts or modern designs, a totally green quilt or a memorial quilt for a loved one – or you just need ideas for leftover scraps, Bonnie helps you realize the possibilities available to you. She gives you the tools you need to make quilts that you and those around you will love.

— Sherry D.

Raising three boys we always had an abundance of shirts and being the tight-wad I am, I was always cutting them up for quilts. My kids LOVED running their fingers over a quilt and seeing "their" shirts and recalling memories of when they wore them. Even boys like seeing a part of their life in a quilt!

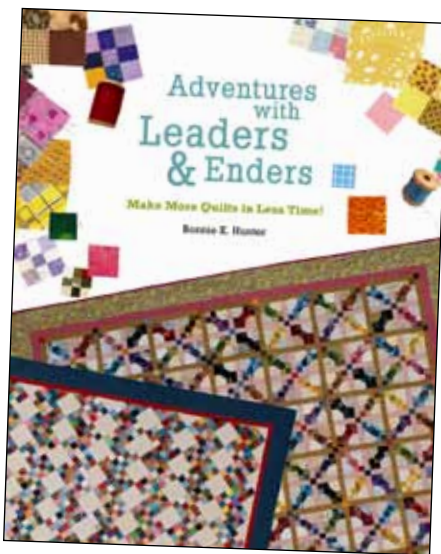

— Saska K.

Bonnie's concepts and patterns are a quilter's delight! She combines traditional blocks with innovative fabric choices that result in distinctive quilts that are easy-to-make. Using recycled shirts benefits everyone: the quilters who get a variety of fabric; the thrift shops, churches and other agencies that derive income from shirt sales; the shirts' original owners, who clean out their closets; and ultimately everyone on the planet, with less going into landfills and less demand for cloth production.
